

Linoleum Rugs

More Popular and Better Designs Than Ever

Linoleums in rug form meet with greater satisfaction every day. They have all the attractiveness of the wool rug in color and design plus the advantages of their wearing qualities.

Suitable for all rooms and decidedly economical for summer use. They are ideal for porches.

Easily cleaned Linoleums in standard sizes—

9 x 12	$17.00	7-6 x 9-0	$10.60
6 x 9	8.75	9 x 10-6	14.85
3 x 9	2.50

B. W. Hooker & Co.

Undertakers—The Best Ambulance Service

Vacation Time

MR. FISHERMAN: Don't go on that fishing trip or long-looked-for vacation without the proper equipment and tackle.

We have just received a complete line of Split Bamboo and Steel Rods. Also an extensive assortment of Reels, Spinners, Flies, Books, Lines, Floats, Swivels, Guides, etc.

Call on us now, while our assortment is complete.

The N. D. Phelps Co., Inc.

Barre, Vermont—Phone 28

K. MACRAE

No. 10 Miles Granite Building—Tel. 524-M

SPECIAL WAIST VALUE AT $1.95—Fine White Voile Waists, also Fancy Silk Striped Voiles. These are exceptional values.

CREPE DE CHENE WAISTS, SPECIAL AT $6.25—These pretty new Waists are made of fine quality Crepe, all sizes up to 46; Flesh, White and Black; regular retail value, $6.98.

TWO SPECIAL ASSORTMENTS—WHITE WASH SKIRTS AT $2.98, $3.98—These two lots cannot be equalled for value, the latest styles in Fine Grade Gabardines.

SEE THE NEW SPORT SKIRTS AT $4.95 to $11.75

HOT WEATHER DRESSES, one of a kind, in pretty Voiles, very special at $8.75.

SPECIAL FOR THURSDAY—Sale of Children's Ribbed Stockings, sizes 7½ to 10, 35c to 39c value, at 27c pair.

Just up 1 flight—The small expenses mean a big saving to you

KEEP COOL

Buy a fan now and get the use of it. We have a very good stock on hand for your inspection.

Barre Electric Company

Tel. 98 For Your Electric Wants Barre

Extra Nice Lot of

Corned Beef

22c and 25c lb.

New Cabbage, per lb.	8c
New Bunch Beets and Carrots, Radishes, Onions, Lettuce, Cucumbers.
New Green Peas, per peck	45c
Grape Fruit	2 for 25c
Watermelon, whole, per lb.	5c
Cantaloupe	2 for 25c

Salted Pigs' Legs, per lb.	8c
New Potatoes, per lb.	5c
Hudson No. 6 Brooms, each	69c

The Smith & Cumings Co., Inc.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Postcard views of the arch and parade at Martin's Book Store. Mrs. James Coutts and children are camping at Joe's pond for a week. James McDermott of Brookfield was a business visitor in the city yesterday. Automobile for hire. Good car and driver. Get our rates. Cutler Bros.—adv. A closing-out sale of all millinery goods at a big discount. Mrs. E. A. Witham.

A. Scampini, sole agent for Harva beer. Non-intoxicating. Wholesale and retail.—adv.

Miss Arlene Preston of Leominster, Mass., is visiting Miss Doris Eastman of Wellington street.

Highest prices paid for furniture, stoves, carpets, bedding, etc. Phone 719-2. Abram Fine.

The July meeting of the ladies and pastor's union of the Hedding M. E. church will be omitted.

John Paletta has for the past week been camping at Highgate Springs, but returned to the city last night.

F. E. Cutler of Manchester, Conn., and his brother, Frank, of Boston, are visiting their mother, Mrs. Belle Porter of South Barre.

As I wish to close out my business by the first of August, will sell my entire stock of millinery, regardless of cost. Mrs. C. R. Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Williams of Hartford, Conn., after spending the holidays with friends in this city, returned to their home yesterday.

G. Ferreri left this morning for Northfield to attend the wedding of Miss Mazzoratti to Achille Belluci, which takes place in that town to-day.

Richard Bizozero, who has been spending the holidays at his home on Seminary street, returned Monday night to his work in Springfield.

Carroll Putnam and wife, who came to visit Mrs. Putnam's sister, Mrs. Arthur Miles of South Main street, over the holidays, returned yesterday to their home in Springfield, Mass.

Mrs. Georgiana DeBlois and three children, L'Aurore, Rosario and Trefle, have gone to Concord, where they will spend the summer vacation with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Goudreau.

Mrs. H. S. Miles and daughter, Hazel, who conduct an art shop in Boston, made a trip by automobile from Boston during the early part of this week and at present are stopping at their home on the Montpelier road.

James Robertson returned to the city Friday morning, after spending a few weeks with his parents in New York. He started work yesterday morning as a polisher. He will reside with Mrs. Webster at 97 Washington street.

Alexander Ogston, who graduated from Norwich university with the class of 1919 and who occupied the mound in many of the most important varsity games during the past season, has secured a position as chemist with a Springfield, Mass., rubber firm. He will be joined by his wife in Springfield.

Relatives of Sgt. Perry Oliver are in receipt of a telegram announcing his arrival at Hoboken Saturday after 11 months of service overseas with the 28th engineers. Sgt. Oliver enlisted in St. Louis while a traveling agent for the Sullivan Machine company of Manchester, N. H. He expects to visit here a few days after receiving his discharge and will then report to his former employer at Chicago.

The Whittemore-Hamm aeroplane, with its 110-horsepower motor, which flew from Boston to Barre on July 4 and was badly damaged in landing, was transferred from the hangar at the trotting park by automobile yesterday afternoon to the special car on the siding near the Central Vermont freight depot. This car, a high box car open at one end, arrived in the yard yesterday morning and this morning rolled out on its southward journey to the Saugus flying field, located just 10 miles from Boston. Before loading the plane it was necessary to reduce it to many parts but since much of this work had been completed earlier in the week it was practically ready for shipment when the car arrived. M. W. Hodgdon, the pilot, supervised the work yesterday and with everything completed left on the midnight train for his home in Boston.

On the eve of his departure for Middlebury to bring the young lady to Barre for a family reunion, Fred M. Kempton received a message last night that Miss Gertrude Donahue, niece of Mrs. Kempton and formerly a resident of Barre, had been drowned in a Springfield, Mass., high box car open at one end, arrived in the yard yesterday morning and this morning rolled out on its southward journey to the Saugus flying field, located just 10 miles from Boston. Before loading the plane it was necessary to reduce it to many parts but since much of this work had been completed earlier in the week it was practically ready for shipment when the car arrived. M. W. Hodgdon, the pilot, supervised the work yesterday and with everything completed left on the midnight train for his home in Boston.

On the eve of his departure for Middlebury to bring the young lady to Barre for a family reunion, Fred M. Kempton received a message last night that Miss Gertrude Donahue, niece of Mrs. Kempton and formerly a resident of Barre, had been drowned in a Springfield, Mass., high box car open at one end, arrived in the yard yesterday morning and this morning rolled out on its southward journey to the Saugus flying field, located just 10 miles from Boston. Before loading the plane it was necessary to reduce it to many parts but since much of this work had been completed earlier in the week it was practically ready for shipment when the car arrived. M. W. Hodgdon, the pilot, supervised the work yesterday and with everything completed left on the midnight train for his home in Boston.

On the eve of his departure for Middlebury to bring the young lady to Barre for a family reunion, Fred M. Kempton received a message last night that Miss Gertrude Donahue, niece of Mrs. Kempton and formerly a resident of Barre, had been drowned in a Springfield, Mass., high box car open at one end, arrived in the yard yesterday morning and this morning rolled out on its southward journey to the Saugus flying field, located just 10 miles from Boston. Before loading the plane it was necessary to reduce it to many parts but since much of this work had been completed earlier in the week it was practically ready for shipment when the car arrived. M. W. Hodgdon, the pilot, supervised the work yesterday and with everything completed left on the midnight train for his home in Boston.

On the eve of his departure for Middlebury to bring the young lady to Barre for a family reunion, Fred M. Kempton received a message last night that Miss Gertrude Donahue, niece of Mrs. Kempton and formerly a resident of Barre, had been drowned in a Springfield, Mass., high box car open at one end, arrived in the yard yesterday morning and this morning rolled out on its southward journey to the Saugus flying field, located just 10 miles from Boston. Before loading the plane it was necessary to reduce it to many parts but since much of this work had been completed earlier in the week it was practically ready for shipment when the car arrived. M. W. Hodgdon, the pilot, supervised the work yesterday and with everything completed left on the midnight train for his home in Boston.

On the eve of his departure for Middlebury to bring the young lady to Barre for a family reunion, Fred M. Kempton received a message last night that Miss Gertrude Donahue, niece of Mrs. Kempton and formerly a resident of Barre, had been drowned in a Springfield, Mass., high box car open at one end, arrived in the yard yesterday morning and this morning rolled out on its southward journey to the Saugus flying field, located just 10 miles from Boston. Before loading the plane it was necessary to reduce it to many parts but since much of this work had been completed earlier in the week it was practically ready for shipment when the car arrived. M. W. Hodgdon, the pilot, supervised the work yesterday and with everything completed left on the midnight train for his home in Boston.

On the eve of his departure for Middlebury to bring the young lady to Barre for a family reunion, Fred M. Kempton received a message last night that Miss Gertrude Donahue, niece of Mrs. Kempton and formerly a resident of Barre, had been drowned in a Springfield, Mass., high box car open at one end, arrived in the yard yesterday morning and this morning rolled out on its southward journey to the Saugus flying field, located just 10 miles from Boston. Before loading the plane it was necessary to reduce it to many parts but since much of this work had been completed earlier in the week it was practically ready for shipment when the car arrived. M. W. Hodgdon, the pilot, supervised the work yesterday and with everything completed left on the midnight train for his home in Boston.

On the eve of his departure for Middlebury to bring the young lady to Barre for a family reunion, Fred M. Kempton received a message last night that Miss Gertrude Donahue, niece of Mrs. Kempton and formerly a resident of Barre, had been drowned in a Springfield, Mass., high box car open at one end, arrived in the yard yesterday morning and this morning rolled out on its southward journey to the Saugus flying field, located just 10 miles from Boston. Before loading the plane it was necessary to reduce it to many parts but since much of this work had been completed earlier in the week it was practically ready for shipment when the car arrived. M. W. Hodgdon, the pilot, supervised the work yesterday and with everything completed left on the midnight train for his home in Boston.

On the eve of his departure for Middlebury to bring the young lady to Barre for a family reunion, Fred M. Kempton received a message last night that Miss Gertrude Donahue, niece of Mrs. Kempton and formerly a resident of Barre, had been drowned in a Springfield, Mass., high box car open at one end, arrived in the yard yesterday morning and this morning rolled out on its southward journey to the Saugus flying field, located just 10 miles from Boston. Before loading the plane it was necessary to reduce it to many parts but since much of this work had been completed earlier in the week it was practically ready for shipment when the car arrived. M. W. Hodgdon, the pilot, supervised the work yesterday and with everything completed left on the midnight train for his home in Boston.

On the eve of his departure for Middlebury to bring the young lady to Barre for a family reunion, Fred M. Kempton received a message last night that Miss Gertrude Donahue, niece of Mrs. Kempton and formerly a resident of Barre, had been drowned in a Springfield, Mass., high box car open at one end, arrived in the yard yesterday morning and this morning rolled out on its southward journey to the Saugus flying field, located just 10 miles from Boston. Before loading the plane it was necessary to reduce it to many parts but since much of this work had been completed earlier in the week it was practically ready for shipment when the car arrived. M. W. Hodgdon, the pilot, supervised the work yesterday and with everything completed left on the midnight train for his home in Boston.

On the eve of his departure for Middlebury to bring the young lady to Barre for a family reunion, Fred M. Kempton received a message last night that Miss Gertrude Donahue, niece of Mrs. Kempton and formerly a resident of Barre, had been drowned in a Springfield, Mass., high box car open at one end, arrived in the yard yesterday morning and this morning rolled out on its southward journey to the Saugus flying field, located just 10 miles from Boston. Before loading the plane it was necessary to reduce it to many parts but since much of this work had been completed earlier in the week it was practically ready for shipment when the car arrived. M. W. Hodgdon, the pilot, supervised the work yesterday and with everything completed left on the midnight train for his home in Boston.

On the eve of his departure for Middlebury to bring the young lady to Barre for a family reunion, Fred M. Kempton received a message last night that Miss Gertrude Donahue, niece of Mrs. Kempton and formerly a resident of Barre, had been drowned in a Springfield, Mass., high box car open at one end, arrived in the yard yesterday morning and this morning rolled out on its southward journey to the Saugus flying field, located just 10 miles from Boston. Before loading the plane it was necessary to reduce it to many parts but since much of this work had been completed earlier in the week it was practically ready for shipment when the car arrived. M. W. Hodgdon, the pilot, supervised the work yesterday and with everything completed left on the midnight train for his home in Boston.

On the eve of his departure for Middlebury to bring the young lady to Barre for a family reunion, Fred M. Kempton received a message last night that Miss Gertrude Donahue, niece of Mrs. Kempton and formerly a resident of Barre, had been drowned in a Springfield, Mass., high box car open at one end, arrived in the yard yesterday morning and this morning rolled out on its southward journey to the Saugus flying field, located just 10 miles from Boston. Before loading the plane it was necessary to reduce it to many parts but since much of this work had been completed earlier in the week it was practically ready for shipment when the car arrived. M. W. Hodgdon, the pilot, supervised the work yesterday and with everything completed left on the midnight train for his home in Boston.

On the eve of his departure for Middlebury to bring the young lady to Barre for a family reunion, Fred M. Kempton received a message last night that Miss Gertrude Donahue, niece of Mrs. Kempton and formerly a resident of Barre, had been drowned in a Springfield, Mass., high box car open at one end, arrived in the yard yesterday morning and this morning rolled out on its southward journey to the Saugus flying field, located just 10 miles from Boston. Before loading the plane it was necessary to reduce it to many parts but since much of this work had been completed earlier in the week it was practically ready for shipment when the car arrived. M. W. Hodgdon, the pilot, supervised the work yesterday and with everything completed left on the midnight train for his home in Boston.

On the eve of his departure for Middlebury to bring the young lady to Barre for a family reunion, Fred M. Kempton received a message last night that Miss Gertrude Donahue, niece of Mrs. Kempton and formerly a resident of Barre, had been drowned in a Springfield, Mass., high box car open at one end, arrived in the yard yesterday morning and this morning rolled out on its southward journey to the Saugus flying field, located just 10 miles from Boston. Before loading the plane it was necessary to reduce it to many parts but since much of this work had been completed earlier in the week it was practically ready for shipment when the car arrived. M. W. Hodgdon, the pilot, supervised the work yesterday and with everything completed left on the midnight train for his home in Boston.

On the eve of his departure for Middlebury to bring the young lady to Barre for a family reunion, Fred M. Kempton received a message last night that Miss Gertrude Donahue, niece of Mrs. Kempton and formerly a resident of Barre, had been drowned in a Springfield, Mass., high box car open at one end, arrived in the yard yesterday morning and this morning rolled out on its southward journey to the Saugus flying field, located just 10 miles from Boston. Before loading the plane it was necessary to reduce it to many parts but since much of this work had been completed earlier in the week it was practically ready for shipment when the car arrived. M. W. Hodgdon, the pilot, supervised the work yesterday and with everything completed left on the midnight train for his home in Boston.

On the eve of his departure for Middlebury to bring the young lady to Barre for a family reunion, Fred M. Kempton received a message last night that Miss Gertrude Donahue, niece of Mrs. Kempton and formerly a resident of Barre, had been drowned in a Springfield, Mass., high box car open at one end, arrived in the yard yesterday morning and this morning rolled out on its southward journey to the Saugus flying field, located just 10 miles from Boston. Before loading the plane it was necessary to reduce it to many parts but since much of this work had been completed earlier in the week it was practically ready for shipment when the car arrived. M. W. Hodgdon, the pilot, supervised the work yesterday and with everything completed left on the midnight train for his home in Boston.

On the eve of his departure for Middlebury to bring the young lady to Barre for a family reunion, Fred M. Kempton received a message last night that Miss Gertrude Donahue, niece of Mrs. Kempton and formerly a resident of Barre, had been drowned in a Springfield, Mass., high box car open at one end, arrived in the yard yesterday morning and this morning rolled out on its southward journey to the Saugus flying field, located just 10 miles from Boston. Before loading the plane it was necessary to reduce it to many parts but since much of this work had been completed earlier in the week it was practically ready for shipment when the car arrived. M. W. Hodgdon, the pilot, supervised the work yesterday and with everything completed left on the midnight train for his home in Boston.

On the eve of his departure for Middlebury to bring the young lady to Barre for a family reunion, Fred M. Kempton received a message last night that Miss Gertrude Donahue, niece of Mrs. Kempton and formerly a resident of Barre, had been drowned in a Springfield, Mass., high box car open at one end, arrived in the yard yesterday morning and this morning rolled out on its southward journey to the Saugus flying field, located just 10 miles from Boston. Before loading the plane it was necessary to reduce it to many parts but since much of this work had been completed earlier in the week it was practically ready for shipment when the car arrived. M. W. Hodgdon, the pilot, supervised the work yesterday and with everything completed left on the midnight train for his home in Boston.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Dance in Howland hall Wednesday evening after the band concert. Gents 75c, ladies free. Gilbertson's orchestra.—adv. David Rennie of 200 South Main street began as a clerk to-day at the Moore & Owens clothing store on North Main street.

Largest line of new and second-hand ranges in Barre, Perfection and Kerogas oil stoves, wicks and ovens. Call and get prices. E. A. Prindle, Worthen block.

John Muiry, who came last Thursday to attend Barre's home-coming celebration as well as to visit with relatives for a few days, returned last night to his employment in North Adams, Mass.

Harold "Tom" Batchelder, with his two brothers, Leighton and Raymond, of Plainfield, and his uncle, Dr. C. G. Capwell of Boston, who is here for his annual vacation trip to Vermont, completed yesterday a three days' motoring trip through the northern part of the state. Much of their time was devoted to seeking the haunts of trout that are well worth carrying home. Their efforts were not in vain, for one of their baskets contained numerous specimens of the trout family, many of which were above ordinary size and weight.

Is there any land sport that has not been staged on the south end park? Still it lies vacant almost the year round, with ample capacity and conveniences to allow outdoor entertainments. Only this last week it was used as an aviation field, a baseball field and a racing course. The aeroplane did not land safely, but had the aviator known of its failings a successful descent could have been accomplished. Why not utilize that large piece of property by having an occasional field day or baseball game? These are the sports everyone is interested in and are bound to be patronized not only by Barre people but those from surrounding towns and cities.

One who was familiar with the records of the trotting park at the south end readily recalled the old days of horse racing as he watched several of the local horse trainers circle about the old path yesterday afternoon. These men, Will Page and Fred Slayton, were just giving the horses their daily workout in preparation for the numerous fairs which will be held during the latter part of the summer at different points in Vermont.

Junior Dillard with a mark of 2:19½, driven by Mr. Page, was contesting with Anna Deen with a mark of 2:15½, driven by Mr. Slayton. Two other horses, Queen Eel, 2:22½, now at the stables of Mr. Slayton, and Dr. Gaines of the Page stables, were there for their daily workouts, too. All three horses have been entered in the Middlebury fair, which is scheduled for the last week in August, the Rutland fair during the first week in September and the state fair at White River Junction later in September. All of them won prizes in races last year and are going out for more this season.

One who was familiar with the records of the trotting park at the south end readily recalled the old days of horse racing as he watched several of the local horse trainers circle about the old path yesterday afternoon. These men, Will Page and Fred Slayton, were just giving the horses their daily workout in preparation for the numerous fairs which will be held during the latter part of the summer at different points in Vermont.

Junior Dillard with a mark of 2:19½, driven by Mr. Page, was contesting with Anna Deen with a mark of 2:15½, driven by Mr. Slayton. Two other horses, Queen Eel, 2:22½, now at the stables of Mr. Slayton, and Dr. Gaines of the Page stables, were there for their daily workouts, too. All three horses have been entered in the Middlebury fair, which is scheduled for the last week in August, the Rutland fair during the first week in September and the state fair at White River Junction later in September. All of them won prizes in races last year and are going out for more this season.

One who was familiar with the records of the trotting park at the south end readily recalled the old days of horse racing as he watched several of the local horse trainers circle about the old path yesterday afternoon. These men, Will Page and Fred Slayton, were just giving the horses their daily workout in preparation for the numerous fairs which will be held during the latter part of the summer at different points in Vermont.

Junior Dillard with a mark of 2:19½, driven by Mr. Page, was contesting with Anna Deen with a mark of 2:15½, driven by Mr. Slayton. Two other horses, Queen Eel, 2:22½, now at the stables of Mr. Slayton, and Dr. Gaines of the Page stables, were there for their daily workouts, too. All three horses have been entered in the Middlebury fair, which is scheduled for the last week in August, the Rutland fair during the first week in September and the state fair at White River Junction later in September. All of them won prizes in races last year and are going out for more this season.

One who was familiar with the records of the trotting park at the south end readily recalled the old days of horse racing as he watched several of the local horse trainers circle about the old path yesterday afternoon. These men, Will Page and Fred Slayton, were just giving the horses their daily workout in preparation for the numerous fairs which will be held during the latter part of the summer at different points in Vermont.

Junior Dillard with a mark of 2:19½, driven by Mr. Page, was contesting with Anna Deen with a mark of 2:15½, driven by Mr. Slayton. Two other horses, Queen Eel, 2:22½, now at the stables of Mr. Slayton, and Dr. Gaines of the Page stables, were there for their daily workouts, too. All three horses have been entered in the Middlebury fair, which is scheduled for the last week in August, the Rutland fair during the first week in September and the state fair at White River Junction later in September. All of them won prizes in races last year and are going out for more this season.

One who was familiar with the records of the trotting park at the south end readily recalled the old days of horse racing as he watched several of the local horse trainers circle about the old path yesterday afternoon. These men, Will Page and Fred Slayton, were just giving the horses their daily workout in preparation for the numerous fairs which will be held during the latter part of the summer at different points in Vermont.

Junior Dillard with a mark of 2:19½, driven by Mr. Page, was contesting with Anna Deen with a mark of 2:15½, driven by Mr. Slayton. Two other horses, Queen Eel, 2:22½, now at the stables of Mr. Slayton, and Dr. Gaines of the Page stables, were there for their daily workouts, too. All three horses have been entered in the Middlebury fair, which is scheduled for the last week in August, the Rutland fair during the first week in September and the state fair at White River Junction later in September. All of them won prizes in races last year and are going out for more this season.

One who was familiar with the records of the trotting park at the south end readily recalled the old days of horse racing as he watched several of the local horse trainers circle about the old path yesterday afternoon. These men, Will Page and Fred Slayton, were just giving the horses their daily workout in preparation for the numerous fairs which will be held during the latter part of the summer at different points in Vermont.

Junior Dillard with a mark of 2:19½, driven by Mr. Page, was contesting with Anna Deen with a mark of 2:15½, driven by Mr. Slayton. Two other horses, Queen Eel, 2:22½, now at the stables of Mr. Slayton, and Dr. Gaines of the Page stables, were there for their daily workouts, too. All three horses have been entered in the Middlebury fair, which is scheduled for the last week in August, the Rutland fair during the first week in September and the state fair at White River Junction later in September. All of them won prizes in races last year and are going out for more this season.

One who was familiar with the records of the trotting park at the south end readily recalled the old days of horse racing as he watched several of the local horse trainers circle about the old path yesterday afternoon. These men, Will Page and Fred Slayton, were just giving the horses their daily workout in preparation for the numerous fairs which will be held during the latter part of the summer at different points in Vermont.

Junior Dillard with a mark of 2:19½, driven by Mr. Page, was contesting with Anna Deen with a mark of 2:15½, driven by Mr. Slayton. Two other horses, Queen Eel, 2:22½, now at the stables of Mr. Slayton, and Dr. Gaines of the Page stables, were there for their daily workouts, too. All three horses have been entered in the Middlebury fair, which is scheduled for the last week in August, the Rutland fair during the first week in September and the state fair at White River Junction later in September. All of them won prizes in races last year and are going out for more this season.

One who was familiar with the records of the trotting park at the south end readily recalled the old days of horse racing as he watched several of the local horse trainers circle about the old path yesterday afternoon. These men, Will Page and Fred Slayton, were just giving the horses their daily workout in preparation for the numerous fairs which will be held during the latter part of the summer at different points in Vermont.

Junior Dillard with a mark of 2:19½, driven by Mr. Page, was contesting with Anna Deen with a mark of 2:15½, driven by Mr. Slayton. Two other horses, Queen Eel, 2:22½, now at the stables of Mr. Slayton, and Dr. Gaines of the Page stables, were there for their daily workouts, too. All three horses have been entered in the Middlebury fair, which is scheduled for the last week in August, the Rutland fair during the first week in September and the state fair at White River Junction later in September. All of them won prizes in races last year and are going out for more this season.

One who was familiar with the records of the trotting park at the south end readily recalled the old days of horse racing as he watched several of the local horse trainers circle about the old path yesterday afternoon. These men, Will Page and Fred Slayton, were just giving the horses their daily workout in preparation for the numerous fairs which will be held during the latter part of the summer at different points in Vermont.

Junior Dillard with a mark of 2:19½, driven by Mr. Page, was contesting with Anna Deen with a mark of 2:15½, driven by Mr. Slayton. Two other horses, Queen Eel, 2:22½, now at the stables of Mr. Slayton, and Dr. Gaines of the Page stables, were there for their daily workouts, too. All three horses have been entered in the Middlebury fair, which is scheduled for the last week in August, the Rutland fair during the first week in September and the state fair at White River Junction later in September. All of them won prizes in races last year and are going out for more this season.

One who was familiar with the records of the trotting park at the south end readily recalled the old days of horse racing as he watched several of the local horse trainers circle about the old path yesterday afternoon. These men, Will Page and Fred Slayton, were just giving the horses their daily workout in preparation for the numerous fairs which will be held during the latter part of the summer at different points in Vermont.

Junior Dillard with a mark of 2:19½, driven by Mr. Page, was contesting with Anna Deen with a mark of 2:15½, driven by Mr. Slayton. Two other horses, Queen Eel, 2:22½, now at the stables of Mr. Slayton, and Dr. Gaines of the Page stables, were there for their daily workouts, too. All three horses have been entered in the Middlebury fair, which is scheduled for the last week in August, the Rutland fair during the first week in September and the state fair at White River Junction later in September. All of them won prizes in races last year and are going out for more this season.

One who was familiar with the records of the trotting park at the south end readily recalled the old days of horse racing as he watched several of the local horse trainers circle about the old path yesterday afternoon. These men, Will Page and Fred Slayton, were just giving the horses their daily workout in preparation for the numerous fairs which will be held during the latter part of the summer at different points in Vermont.

Junior Dillard with a mark of 2:19½, driven by Mr. Page, was contesting with Anna Deen with a mark of 2:15½, driven by Mr. Slayton. Two other horses, Queen Eel, 2:22½, now at the stables of Mr. Slayton, and Dr. Gaines of the Page stables, were there for their daily workouts, too. All three horses have been entered in the Middlebury fair, which is scheduled for the last week in August, the Rutland fair during the first week in September and the state fair at White River Junction later in September. All of them won prizes in races last year and are going out for more this season.

One who was familiar with the records of the trotting park at the south end readily recalled the old days of horse racing as he watched several of the local horse trainers circle about the old path yesterday afternoon. These men, Will Page and Fred Slayton, were just giving the horses their daily workout in preparation for the numerous fairs which will be held during the latter part of the summer at different points in Vermont.

Junior Dillard with a mark of 2:19½, driven by Mr. Page, was contesting with Anna Deen with a mark of 2:15½, driven by Mr. Slayton. Two other horses, Queen Eel, 2:22½, now at the stables of Mr. Slayton, and Dr. Gaines of the Page stables, were there for their daily workouts, too. All three horses have been entered in the Middlebury fair, which is scheduled for the last week in August, the Rutland fair during the first week in September and the state fair at White River Junction later in September. All of them won prizes in races last year and are going out for more this season.

One who was familiar with the records of the trotting park at the south end readily recalled the old days of horse racing as he watched several of the local horse trainers circle about the old path yesterday afternoon. These men, Will Page and Fred Slayton, were just giving the horses their daily workout in preparation for the numerous fairs which will be held during the latter part of the summer at different points in Vermont.

Junior Dillard with a mark of 2:19½, driven by Mr. Page, was contesting with Anna Deen with a mark of 2:15½, driven by Mr. Slayton. Two other horses, Queen Eel, 2:22½, now at the stables of Mr. Slayton, and Dr. Gaines of the Page stables, were there for their daily workouts, too. All three horses have been entered in the Middlebury fair, which is scheduled for the last week in August, the Rutland fair during the first week in September and the state fair at White River Junction later in September. All of them won prizes in races last year and are going out for more this season.

One who was familiar with the records of the trotting park at the south end readily recalled the old days of horse racing as he watched several of the local horse trainers circle about the old path yesterday afternoon. These men, Will Page and Fred Slayton, were just giving the horses their daily workout in preparation for the numerous fairs which will be held during the latter part of the summer at different points in Vermont.

Junior Dillard with a mark of 2:19½, driven by Mr. Page, was contesting with Anna Deen with a mark of 2:15½, driven by Mr. Slayton. Two other horses, Queen Eel, 2:22½,